Parental contribution based on guideline. _____

Please note that the decision by the Assessment Committee to accept a reduced parental contribution is based on a number of factors, not only the information requested above. During the assessment process, parents may be asked to provide additional information, including documentation to verify matters, including, but not limited to, information regarding:

- Housing (rent or mortgage as applicable, market value)
- Value of other real estate, including rental properties
- Value of other investments, including RRSPs
- Value of any incorporated business of which you are shareholder
- Value of any personal trust of which you are a beneficiary
- Amount of any personal expenses paid for by an incorporated business

Please note further that the Parent Contribution Guideline is a guideline only. If you feel that there are special circumstances that apply to your situation, including, but not limited to, loss of job, change in family living status, bankruptcy, illness or injury or death in the family, or if, for any other reason, you would like to meet with the Assessment Committee to discuss your parental contribution, please check this box.

As indicated, the Parental Contribution Guideline is a guideline only. The Assessment Committee reserves the right to meet with parents and to assign to parents a different parental contribution based on matters reviewed during the assessment process.

Should you wish to appeal the parental contribution assigned to you by the Assessment Committee, there is an Appeals Committee which operates at arm's length from both the Gray Academy of Jewish Education and the Winnipeg Board of Jewish Education.
